Session Held

At a very largely attended anniversary meeting of Decatur Lodge No. 52 Independent Order of Odd Fellows held at the Knights of Pythias hall on Bank Street last night, the principal address was delivered by Dr. C. C. Davison, pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur.

The relatives and invited friends of the order made up a goodly part of the large audience, and after the business session and the addresses a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

W. L. Hatchett presided and made a short address, Miss Mildred Compton, of the Odd Fellows Home at Cullman, played a number of piano solos. Misses Marjorie Pointer and Lula Garnett gave readings.

The address of Dr. Davison was in part as follows:

One hundred and five years ago, April 25th, 1819 at Baltimore, Md., five men constituted the first Order of Odd Fellows in America. This was Washington Lodge No. 1. Odd fellowship does not claim to be a religious institution or organization. It does not claim to be a church nor a rival to the churches but it is a mighty ally to our religious organizations and the work is supplementary and in cooperation with that of the churches. Read James 1:27 "Pure religion and undefiled; is to visit the fatherless and the widow and to keep oneself unstained from the world." Religion is real. It is a practical matter. We do what we do because of what we are. We visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead, educate the orphan. Ours is one of the largest and best fraternal and benevolent orders in the country.

Odd Fellowship is a moral order but Christianity is the pioneer that created the atmosphere in which the order came into being and in which it grows, develops and operates. It creates and develops the principles in the hearts of men. It is organized on the principles of God's word. Because these principles are religious they are approved. They touch the hearts of men. The spirit of the order is one of unselfish love and it binds the membership into a brotherhood.

The appeal of Odd Fellowship is the appeal of a big thing. A drunk Irishman looking at a $50 fish said: "The man who caught that fish is a liar." So the immensity of the order is difficult to comprehend by the average mind. It is one of the largest in the world. It is 105 years old in America with more than 1,000,000 select and of sterling worth and of high character. It is a mighty army of good men with big unselfish hearts. It is a mighty force and a great power for good. There are more than 2,500,000 members in the world with $250,000,000 invested funds with several millions a year invested in the lives of those aided in distress and sickness. There are sixty homes for orphans and possibly 12,000 children cared for.

Then Odd Fellowship is a social organization. It is a social creature. The lodge affords a gathering place under safe and wholesome surroundings. The special open meetings afford opportunities for the intermingling of the families of members and others. Travelling men and men with no homes are always welcome. It is like a family where all are brothers who are interested in and guard the welfare of each and all. The friendship is like unto that of Jonathan and David. This brotherhood wipes out the false distinctions of society. Every man meets on the level and parts on the square. Men of many sects and creeds cooperate bound by true ties of friendship.

SMITH DECLARES

Said to Be the Youngest Woman Attorney in United States

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 25—Search for Wanda Elaine Stopa, 24, Chicago's youngest woman lawyer and former assistant United States district attorney, was extended to the east today in belief the girl who eluded pursuit here after killing the caretaker of the home of Y. Kinley Smith, wealthy advertising man, with whom she was infatuated fled to New York with her former husband, Valdimar Glaskoff.

During the last four months the girl lived in New York, her expenses being paid by Smith, who told state's attorneys he had befriended her because she was "the brainiest woman he ever knew."

He said he had taken her to restaurants and theaters on various occasions, sometimes accompanied by Mrs. Smith, who, sick in bed, jumped through a window yesterday after the girl fired several shots at her.

In an automobile, believed by police to have been driven by Glaskoff, Miss Stopa yesterday went to Smith's home in Palos park, walked to Mrs. Smith's room, and after firing at her, shot and killed Henry Manning, 55, a caretaker, who had rushed into the room.

Declaring "I am going to get him" she ran to the waiting car which disappeared. Smith was hurried from his downtown office to the state's attorney's office, under guard, to prevent any attempt on his life.

Glaskoff said to be the son of a Russian nobleman, joined the girl in New York several weeks ago, and before coming to Chicago this week, she staged a farewell party at which she is reported to have said she was coming to get revenge.

Smith said she had threatened him when he refused to divorce his wife and marry her and that, by agreement with her husband, after an alienist had pronounced her "highly emotional," she left Chicago.

A short time ago Smith notified her his payments would stop. According to Mrs. Harriett Stopa, her mother, Wanda graduated from law school when 21 years old and was admitted to the bar, later being sworn in as an assistant district attorney to take testimony before federal grand juries.

SEVEN CONVERTED IN REVIVAL SERVICES

Increased attendance was noted at the First Christian church revival last night when the pastor, Rev. Noble R. Edwards, preached from the scripture text "Behold, I stand at the door and knock." There was the usual song service followed by Rev. E. H. Roy. There was a period of meditation for silent worship. The silence was broken by an earnest and moving prayer by Dr. James D. Hunter.

It was announced that seven have professed conversion at the meeting up to last night.

Rev. Edwards explained that his text extended contained Christ's words saying that "any man" who opened the door to Him, would receive Christ.

The speaker explained "Whosoever will" is asked to open the door to the Savior.

"John wrote out of a heart that was close to God" said the preacher. "And when he wrote John 3-20, which contains the words of my text he seems to have reached the heights of inspiration."

Te preacher explained that to deny an open door to a friend to a neighbor or to any one was a serious matter but that to deny entrance to the divine Savior was serious beyond comparison.

RYAN SCHOOL TO END TERM TODAY

The closing exercises of the Ryan public schools at Ryan's Cross Roads in the southeastern part of the county occurs tonight when a number of students are to be given their diplomas by Superintendent Woodruff.

The literary address following the awarding of the diplomas will be delivered by Probate Judge Lovick P. Troup, who left this afternoon for Ryan's Cross Roads.

One of the teachers in the Ryan school is Rev. E. E. Weaver, who was in charge of the Austinville public schools some years ago. The Ryan school is one of the largest rural schools of Morgan County, and it is said to be one of the best schools in the county.

LARGER PROGRAM OF ACTIVITIES
IS PLANNED BY LOCAL CHURCH

Epoch making activities are expected to follow the meeting of tonight at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. of members of the Central Methodist church revival committee, which has just led that church through one of the most far reaching religious campaigns ever undertaken in the Twin Cities.

The committee has found itself confronted with much more work instead of less with the termination of the public meetings of the Easter revival last Sunday night. There are over 80 new members of that church as a direct result of the revival. The personal worker's committee, of which C. W. Matthews is chairman, is expected to report that 500 non-church going people were found in the religious census taken, the large majority of which number being found to be "Methodist stock." Plans will be discussed to reach a large percentage of that number in such a way as to enlist them in the active work of the central Methodist church.

It will be pointed out it is said that two things to do seemed likely of accomplishment. First the securing of an assistant to Dr. James D. Hunter, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and who led the meetings for public worship at the recent revival and preached all the sermons for it.

This second consideration to confront the committee was the urgent need of more room for the expanded religious

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 25—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, died at 9:30 o'clock this morning at his residence at 305 East 17th street.

Murphy succeeded the late Richard Croker, as chief of the country's most famous political organization. He was a native New Yorker having been born here June 20, 1858.

Acute indigestion was the cause of his death.

A street car driver who became leader of the most powerful political organization in the world, and as such, played a prominent part in the naming of mayors, governors and nominees for presidential nominations, such is the life story of Charles Murphy.

Although denied advantages of education because of family circumstances, he showed qualities of leadership early in life and from boyhood had been a leader of a circle of one kind or another.

In all of them he was uniformly successful. A result that may be said to have been due to his loyalty to friends, his shrewdness and his secretive manner. He never discussed his plans with any except his closest lieutenants and rarely spoke for publication.

Whenever he consented to be interviewed, he usually covered what he had to say in a sentence or two. As a result he came generally to be known as "Silent Charley."

PLACE OF SPEAKING
TONIGHT IS CHANGED

It was announced this afternoon that Miss Shaner's address, scheduled to have been delivered in the First Presbyterian church, will be given, instead, at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Albany, of which church Dr. Goodwin is pastor.

Dinner at Lyons Hotel

Masonic Temple

At a largely attended meeting of the Albany-Decatur Grotto club held at the Masonic theater Thursday evening the charter was closed about 100 members of the club signifying a desire that such action be taken.

It was explained that "closing the charter" does not mean that the doors to membership in the club are closed but that members entering from Thursday night will not be received as charter members.

Following the business session which was presided over by Lawrence W. Lee, president of the local Grotto Club, Mr. Lee introduced Prophet Hawley of the Kamram Grotto at Birmingham.

Mr. Lee and other officials of the local Grotto club explained that the Albany-Decatur Grotto club was one of the many affiliated with the Kamram Grotto which organization has jurisdiction over the local club.

After making his address Prophet Hawley introduced as the second and last speaker, Chief Justice Puckett of the Kamram Grotto, the highest official of the Grotto in this section. This speaker spoke at length of the purposes of the Grotto organizations and explained the obligations of all its members.

The meeting opened at 7:30 o'clock p. m. and remained in session until 10 o'clock.

At 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening officials of the local Grotto club entertained Prophet Hawley and Chief Justice Puckett at dinner at the Lyons Hotel.

Prophet W. D. Moore, who came here recently and organized the local Grotto club, was voted a life membership in the organization by those present at last night's meeting.

More than 70 members were present at the gathering. At the conclusion of the inspiring addresses of the visiting prophets, there was a rush for the secretary's desk, by members of the Grotto desiring to become affiliated with the local club.

During the addresses great stress was laid on what the Grotto means, the good fellowship said of the order, its work for mankind and its benefit features. They reviewed also the phenomenal growth of that branch of the order. A few years ago Kamram Grotto had 110 members. Today its membership was reported at more than 7,000. It is said to be the second largest Grotto in North America.

FALKVILLE WOMAN IS LAID TO REST

FALKVILLE, Ala., April 25—Mrs. W. H. Dillon was buried at the Falkville cemetery Sunday, April 13th, at four o'clock. She died at the Benevolent Hospital on Saturday before following a serious operation.

Mrs. Dillon was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Speigel of Falkville, Ala. She was born September 15, 1899 and was married to W. H. Dillon April 11, 1917. She lived in this community all her life except a short period of time and when she and her husband lived in San Antonio, Texas. She returned to the home of her youth about two years ago because the climate of southern Texas did not agree with her. Her husband sold his business and returned here only a short time before her death.

Mrs. Dillon had been in bad health for a number of years and visited specialists in various places and taken treatment through out the country in an effort to regain her health, but to no avail and in an effort to rebuild herself for the sake of her two little girls, Dorothy age 7, and Mary Francis age 5, she submitted to the operation from which she never rallied.

She joined the Christian church at an early age and lived a devout Christian life to the time of her death. She was a cheerful and sympathetic friend a loving wife and a devoted mother and those who were near and dear to her may well feel reassured in the fact of her Christian life and the assurance that when she came to the river that marks the unknown shore her hands were filled with deeds of charity the Golden Key that opens the palace of Eternity.

Mrs. Dillon is survived by her father and mother, husband, two little daughters and two sisters, Mrs. Felix Sams and Miss Dorothy Speigel.

NEWTON D. BAKER
IS ON THE STAND

Former War Secretary
Explains Early Story of Development

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war and three citizens of Mississippi threw the weight of their testimony against any proposition for operation of Muscle Shoals without guarantee of power or distribution, at today's hearing of the senate agriculture committee.

Former Secretary Baker said he favored Chairman Norris' proposal for government operation and that never, under any circumstances, would the government part with the dams at Muscle Shoals.

He declared "it would be tragic to have this greatest water power east of the Mississippi tied up for 100 years with some uneconomic process."

This would happen, Mr. Baker said, if the lessee were required to produce nitrogen from power, when the whole process might be changed by discovery of progressive chemists.

Appeals for power distribution through territory adjacent to Muscle Shoals was made by T. J. Bolton, representing the Meridian chamber of Commerce. F. L. Wier, a merchant and farmer, and Judge W. W. McCruder, both of Starkville, Miss.

Chairman Norris requested that the public hearings be extended for one week after April 29, the date fixed for the close of the hearing and the committee agreed that any senator wish to terminate he hearings would be required to give the committee three day's notice.

WASHINGTON, April 25—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war was the first to testify today at the senate agriculture committee hearing on the Muscle Shoals bill.

Mr. Baker said he had served as chairman of the waterpower commission and in this way became interested in Muscle Shoals' production of nitrogen in this country was in an experimental stage at the outbreak of the war and he was appointed as one of a committee to go through parts of the southeastern states and look over power sites he recalled.

River in Flood.
When the committee reached Sheffield, Ala., the Tennessee river was in flood and suggested a tremendous power if bridled, Baker said, and later the committee suggested to the present that the first unit for hydro electric power in conformity with the national defense act be built at Muscle Shoals.

At this juncture Chairman Norris proposed extension of the hearings to beyond April 29 and after some debate it was decided the session would run without limit.

Time Limit Debated.
Committee members were privileged to give three days notice of motion to terminate the hearing.

Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, believed the hearing should end on April 29 and the chairman remarked that such procedure might cut off important testimony. Senator Ralston, democrat, Indiana suggested a curb on lengthy testimony, expressing a belief that there were interests here who would like to prolong the hearing until congress adjourns.

While not desiring to shut out witnesses, Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi said "I suggest an additional week would not be needed."

Resuming his testimony, Mr. Baker said the process for production of synthetic nitrogen is still embryonic. It is certain, he added, that the production of nitrogen now is not so dependent on power as it was when Muscle Shoals was constructed.

Those who give nothing for something, generally take something for nothing.

The indictment of Senator Wheeler does not seem to have much kick in it.

"Love has forty eyes," says W. Shakespeare, but only for the good. It is blinded to evil.

The two best shows now in prospect are the national conventions of the "dominant political parties."

If the politicians realized that the office bee has a sharp stinger its buzz would not be so welcome to them.

"We had to do it for the baby," said the "Bobbed Hair Bandit," and her "tall companion," after stealing $1,100. It probably never occurred to them they could have worked for the baby.

On the streets of the Twin Cities not long ago a citizen was heard to remark: "If they don't want me there, I don't want to be there."

If the Japanese thought that way they would not be huffy because this country proposes to exercise its rights and restrict immigration from Japan. It is hard for people in this country to understand why the Japs want to be where they are not welcome.

It is one of the first rights of families or of individuals to choose their own associates, their own "living companions," so why cannot nations have that right and no questions asked.

As long as this country needed immigrants, in the long years before the country's vast domains were inhabited, naturally there was not much said against people coming to our shores from all parts of the globe. But now, as Senator John K. Shields has so well said in a recent speech:

"We do not need immigration. We are a world power and can safely depend and rely upon our own people for prosperity and defense of our country. The immigrants of today come to share our prosperity and not to contribute to it. The natural increase of our nationals will enable us to keep up with the populations of other countries. We do not want a densely populated country with the attendant evils found in such countries in Europe and Asia. Overpopulation destroys individualism and independence and weakens the physical and mental development of the people. Great Britain, France, Germany nor any other civilized country permits hordes of immigrants from foreign countries.

"The problem which confronts us is not international. Immigration is a domestic problem solely within the control of each sovereign state. This question was fully discussed when the Senate had under consideration the approval of the covenant of the League of Nations contained in the Versailles treaty. One of the most important reservations reported by the committee on foreign relations was that declaring immigration to be a domestic question, and reserving to the United States the absolute control of immigration to our country.

"Our immigration policy must be determined by the American people, and the laws of its enforcement written by Americans and for America. The welfare of the nation must control. Temporary economic, industrial and commercial interests must give way to the safety of our people and our institutions. Contractors for cheap labor and foreign steamship companies reaping great profits from transporting immigrants must not be allowed to further influence our immigration laws."

Since the United States has the right to welcome and exclude at will, and since the country is getting filled with people, it should not be the "insult" to Japan that the Japanese Admiral Yamamoto is reported to have said it was for this country to restrict Japanese immigration.

Somewhere in the Twin Cities there surely is some resident of kind heart who will answer the appeal of the Alabama State Child Welfare Department for a home for one or more of its charges.

"We do not want a sob story," a worker for the department recently told The Daily, "but we would appreciate it if The Daily would inquire of its readers whether or not there is someone here who will assume responsibility for caring for one of the children in our care."

Surely the appeal will be answered. As misfortune visits the homes in which these children were born, they become charges of the state and as such, the Child Welfare Department is caring for them as best it can. The worker pointed out, however, that it is not the temporary boarding homes, to which these children have been sent, that the department hopes to place permanently their charges, but in Christian homes over the state, where the child can be taken care of, given the attention and the training every child needs, and where their characters may be so moulded that when they have attained their majority, they will take their places in the world as worthwhile citizens.

"We do not place children who are defective physically, unless we should be requested to," the worker went on. She told of the rigid physical examination volunteer physicians gave these children, and the effort to keep them healthy and happy while they are being detained in the boarding homes, awaiting placement in a real home of their own.

"We do everything we can for these children, while they remain with us," the visitor said. "But a boarding home cannot give them the same advantages a private home can. We do not expect it and the people of the state cannot expect it."

"There is another reason why it is necessary for the children to be placed in their permanent home as early as possible. Attachments of a child develop very rapidly and it is not well for these attachments to be broken more often than is absolutely necessary. In other words, we do not desire to transfer a child oftener than we have to. We feel that it is to the best interests of the child to be placed in the permanent home early in life, and absorb as soon as it may the kindly, gentle atmosphere of the home life, forming attachments which, we hope always, may never be broken."

The state department makes careful examination of the conditions of a home before any child is placed there and, from time to time, visits the home to see that the conditions continue good. "Solely for the protection of the child are these precautions taken," the visitor continued, "and our relations with the foster parents of children who have been put in private homes nearly always are of the most pleasant."

At the present time the boarding home in Birmingham is crowded. It contains many children whom the back-wash of misfortune has cast upon the charity of the state. The background of some of these children is dark, but not all of them. The state department would take a great deal of pleasure in explaining in detail the early history of any child to persons seeking adoption. At present the children have among their number four sets of girl twins, one pair is three years of age, another eight months, yet another three weeks, and one only eight days. All are healthy.

The department, of course, is rather hard pressed for money at all times. The field for work is always greater than the workers can cover to the best advantage, but as the representative explained, "this is not a call for money."

The department, just at this time, is not asking the people of Albany and Decatur to contribute funds, but it is urging those who are able and those who are in position to do so, to take one or more of these healthy youngsters, provide them a place in the home, keep them a year, as the law requires, and later adopt them.

It is not an appeal to the pocketbook the department is making. It is an appeal direct to the heart.

Whereas, the Great Ruler of the universe, in His wisdom has seen fit to remove by death William Randolph Shelton from this community therefore

Be it resolved by The Exchange Club of Albany-Decatur:

1. That we sincerely regret the death of our deceased friend, William Randolph Shelton.
2. That this community has lost a faithful servant and an honest, upright citizen.

TAX EXEMPTIONS ARE SET BY SENATE

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 25—Contributions to fraternal organizations used exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or education purposes was voted exemption from taxation by the senate as suggested by the finance committee.

Without opposition the senate agreed also to the committee amendment proposing to allow any article selling for $25 or less, exemption from the jewelry tax. The house had voted exemption for all articles selling for less than $40.

Exemption of produce and merchandise brokers from the $50 brokers tax then was agreed to and restoration of the full $10 tax on billboard, and pool tables and bowling alleys was approved. The house had cut this tax in half.

KIDDIES ARE USING PARK EQUIPMENT

The Malone amusement park has lately become the mecca of the children of the Twin Cities. The park is the wooded section of the park west of the baseball grounds and is fenced in, but open to all. As fast as Mr. Malone has been able to install the different amusement fixtures for the children they have been standing ready to use them, showing no hesitancy to try out the new machines.

Mr. Malone's work along the south side of the entire park is notable. The low places near the fence and extending to Moulton street are being filled in and the high places leveled down until a model parking ground will soon be a part of the attractions of the park.

The open space between the Home Oil Mill lots and Moulton street adjoining the part property and near the Louisville and Nashville railroad is being smoothed down and it is expected that the whole stretch of ground along Moulton street next to the park, from the railroad to the west limits of the park will be sown in grass seed. Rumors are rife to the effect that the North Alabama Traction company's street cars will be running to and from the Malone Park, from that company's main line on Second street in the near future.

JUDGE JOHN R. KEOUGH REVIEWS FACTS IN CASE

Tells How Tanlac Won Decision Over Indictment and Nervousness. Was So Miserable Duties Of Office Were a Burden.

Judge John R. Keough, Justice of the Peace, 150 North Second St., Memphis, Tenn., is another man of prominence from whom the Tanlac treatment has elicited high commendation. "Of one thing," recently said Judge Keough, "I am convinced beyond doubt and that is Tanlac's goodness as a stomach medicine and general tonic. Before I took it my stomach was so out of fix that even the sight of food would nauseate me. And this indigestion had me so nervous and played out that it was a burden for me to discharge the duties of my office."

"Tanlac set me right a year ago and I have had no more health troubles since. I can eat and digest just anything—even corned beef and cabbage—and my stomach and nerves are as good as a man could ask for. Tanlac will always get a good recommendation from me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Moulton News

MOULTON, Ala., April 25.—Special intimate friends in Moulton have just received a letter from Miss Sarah Andrews, a missionary of the Church of Christ, and who has been for several years in Japan, stating that at the time of writing, March 31, she was expecting daily her "house" to arrive. In the winter material was shipped her for a real American house, as the Japanese houses are extremely uncomfortable and unsuited to American ways. Miss Andrews stated that she had been told since her house was to be used for Christian mission work there would likely be no tariff to meet, but if the tariff had to be paid, it would be about $400. Her letters, always interesting, state that she has recently taken up her abode in a town hitherto not much affected by earthquakes.

For the past five years she has been engaged in kindergarten work and private mission work at Okitsu, where she was kindly given free of charge the town hall for her work. At the end of the work in March papers were read expressing appreciation on the part of the natives of the work she has done, and gifts given to her and to her assistant, Oiki San, a young Japanese woman. Miss Andrews spent some time in Moulton two years ago while here on a furlough.

Twelve white applicants and two negroes took the examination held for teachers Monday and Tuesday in Moulton. Of the whites six were males, and six females, and six took for second grade license and six for third grade. Of the negroes one was male and the other female. It would appear that men are beginning to return to the profession in the old-time numbers. A noticeable feature of the examinations for teachers in the past few years is the number of applicants barely old enough to qualify. This is in good part due to the excellent policy now being followed by the state—that of requiring greater preparation and the increasing number of would-be teachers who realize the importance of training for the work.

Ten Lawrence county teachers took the state reading circle examination on Saturday, also at Moulton. Others more convenient went to Russellville, and still others are expecting to take this examination given in May.

A party of surveyors began work on the Moulton-to-the-Valley road Tuesday. It is understood that every effort possible will be made to get the survey made and work begun within the next few weeks. The road will run due north from Moulton by Old Mountain Home and intersect the Sheffield-Decatur highway a mile east of Courtland in the lower valley of the county.

Seven members of the local Masonic lodge went to Courtland Monday night to attend a meeting of the order at that place, where representatives met in large numbers from Town Creek and other lodges.

Miss Lydia Tidwell, elementary superintendent, left for her home at Blountsville, Tuesday, where she goes for a brief stay and then enters upon her studies at Peabody for the summer.

Woodfin Sandlin, for the past two years with a leading drug company at Huntsville, spent Monday to Wednesday with his parents and relatives in Moulton.

REALTORS HERE ON WAY TO SHEFFIELD

A large number of the members of the Alabama Realtor's Association were here today on their way to Sheffield where tonight they were to hold their annual convention, and elect officers for the ensuing year.

The citizens of the Tri-Cities are to give a banquet Thursday evening to the realtors at the Sheffield hotel. The real estate men of Florence and Sheffield have made arrangements to give their visitors full knowledge of the Muscle Shoals project during their stay at the Tri-Cities.

J. E. Duskin, of Montgomery, president of the Association, (A. A. Gamble of Birmingham, A. C. Montgomery of Birmingham, S. C. Starks, Dr. C. W. Shropshire, John C. Coe, T. W. Townsend and other prominent members of the realtor association were in the party bound for Sheffield.

Officials and others of the organization were found to be outspoken for the success of the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals. One explained that those who said they were for the Detroit man's bid, but wanted it amended were not for it in a way to make it a winner. Another realtor after saying he was for the Ford bid "first last and all the time" declared he hoped the government would give it to the man who would produce the most wealth at the Shoals declaring that the disputes as to who got power here and there, were destructive, and that if Ford produced great wealth at the Shoals, there were plenty of ways for that wealth to be distributed.

Lecture Tonight Is Delayed for Time

The following statement was issued today by Dr. S. A. Steel, pastor of the First Methodist church:

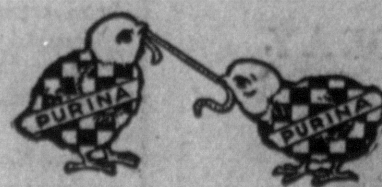

"I wish to call in the lecture on 'Backbone' announced to be delivered at the Methodist church in Decatur tonight. I do this on account of the Age-Herald oratorical contest in Birmingham. I want Miss Marjory Pointer to win. I think we all do. Many of her friends want to listen on the Radio. My speech will keep and be delivered later. Let us hip, hip, hurrah for our champion in the contest."

What the Press Agents Say

Sidney Olcott, who directed Marion Davies in her new Cosmopolitan picture, "Little Old New York," a screen version of Rida Johnson Young's famous stage play, which will be screened at the Princess theater for two days beginning today is one of the best known directors in the motion picture industry.

He is one of the pioneers his start in motion pictures going back to the old Kalem days. He was the first director to take a company of movie players any great distance out of New York, doing so almost fourteen years ago when he went to Florida to film a series of pictures. In 1909, Olcott took a company to Europe, which, up until that time had been virgin ground as far as American motion pictures were concerned.

Later Olcott went to Palestine where he made "From the Manger to the Cross" hailed at that time as the greatest picture ever made. In this company was Robert G. Vignola, who directed Miss Davies in "When Knighthood was in Flower". Following his return to this country, Olcott became afflicted with Famous Players for whom he directed a long list of stars, including Mary Pickford, Hazel Dawn, Marguerite Clark, Marie Doro, and many of the other foremost stars. Two of his greatest pictures are "The Green Goddess," starring George Arliss, and "Little Old New York" starring Marion Davies, both of which are distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan.

Georgia Lady Says She Has Grown Stronger by Taking Cardui—Thoroughly Convinced of Its Merits.

Cyattville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Copeland said: "I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardui, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me."

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go, and suffered. I had a friend who told me of Cardui, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardui has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others. It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill. Sold everywhere. NC-109

JERVIS-WORTH WEDDING.

A wedding of unusual beauty and charm was that of Miss Adelaide Worth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Worth and Mr. John Stanley Jervis, of Atlanta, which took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. Smiles, palms and Easter lilies were used for the decoration of the church, the altar being banked with palms, ferns and spirea, interspersed with lighted candles.

Prior to the ceremony, the organist, Mr. Edward Munson, rendered a beautiful program of music and at the appointed hour the wedding party entered to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

First came little Miss Louise Washburn, a niece of the bride, wearing a dainty frock of pale yellow chiffon and carrying an old-fashioned nosegay of pink sweet peas. She entered with Robert Rock, Jr., a nephew of the bride, who wore an Oliver Twist suit of black satin.

Robert deRosset then entered, with Edward J. Bowden, Dalziel Sprunt with George Mitchell, Benjamin Washburn with Walter P. Sprunt.

Miss Betty Worth Sprunt, also a niece of the bride, in peach chiffon and carrying a bouquet of white lilacs was next, followed by Miss Mary Jervis, a sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. George Hardwicke. Their dresses were of Chinese blue chiffon, trimmed with cream lace, and they carried large bouquets of white lilacs; Mrs. Roy Alexander Craig, of Lake Wales, Fla., and Mrs. William T. Cheatham, of Burlington, wearing similar dresses in peach chiffon and also carrying bouquets of white lilacs.

Mrs. J. Reginald Mallett was next. She was gowned in white chiffon and carried white lilacs, showered with lavender sweet peas.

Immediately preceding the bride was the dame of honor, her sister, Mrs. Benjamin Washburn, of Decatur, Ga., who wore a beaded gown of orchid georgette and carried a bouquet of white lilacs, showered with sweet peas in pastel shades.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white silk moire with panels of the same material, and Chantilly lace embroidered in pearls. Her veil of tulle was caught to her head turban fashion, with sprays of real orange blossoms at the end of her tulle train were bands of silk moire embroidered with pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses, white lilacs and white sweet peas.

They were met at the altar by the bridegroom, who had as his best man his brother, Robert Jervis, of Albany Ala. The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother-in-law, the Rev. Robert B. Rock, of New Providence N. J., assisted by the Rev. Dr. A. D. P. Gilmore, pastor of the church.

Immediately after the ceremony a small informal reception was held at the home of the brides sister, Mrs. Walter Payne Sprunt. Besides the bride party, the receiving line was composed of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Worth, the latter wearing a gown of bronze beaded georgette and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses; Mrs. A. D. Jervis, mother of the bridegroom, in a gown of gray lace and satin, with a corsage bouquet of pink roses; Mrs. Walter Payne Sprunt, in robins egg blue georgette beaded in crystals, with a bouquet of pink violets; Mrs. George Mitchell, in Alice blue chiffon with sunset roses, and Mrs. R. B. Rock, wearing a gown of cream lace with a bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Others assisting in receiving were Mrs. J. Dalziel Sprunt, Mrs. Nelson MacRae, Mrs. Lem Doss, Mrs. Harmon Morrison and Mrs. Emmett H. Bellamy.

The entire lower floor was beautifully arranged with palms, bamboo, Easter lilies, white lilies and pink snap dragons, in profusion. Delicious iced coffee was served throughout the evening by Mrs. Julian Morton, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Donald Parsley and Mrs. Graham K. Hobbs.

In the dining room, where delicious ices in appropriate shapes were served the bride's table was lovely with its Italian cut-work cover, the centerpiece being a mound of Alphonse Pernet roses, blue delphinium and pink snap dragons, and at either end were crystal candelabra, holding yellow candles, and silver compots holding attractive cakes and confections.

Mr. and Mrs. Jervis left on the southbound train for Jacksonville, and will motor from there to points of interest in Florida. After May 5 they will be at home at 563 Ponce deLeon avenue, in Atlanta, where Mr. Jervis is district manager of the Century Electric company.

Substitutes are generally more expensive in the end than genuine articles. Housewives have learned—they KNOW this is true where bakings are concerned.

Self rising flours are classed as substitutes for plain flour and good baking powder. The use of these special mixtures is very liable to result in false economy, failures and waste on bake day.

Remember there is a big difference in many ways, between biscuits and other bakings made from these so-called self-rising flours and those made from good plain flour and a dependable leavener. Try the experiment—make a baking from each—convince yourself.

You will find the baking made from flour and baking powder far more attractive in appearance. It will raise higher—retain its full food value and taste better. For best results, do not fail to use Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, and a reliable brand of plain flour. Just think of it—the sale of Calumet is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand. It contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Food Authorities. It is pure and sure.

You save when you buy it—you save when you use it.

YOUR HEALTH

What Most Old Folks Should Do to Keep Well

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I ONCE knew a dear old lady of more than seventy. She was vigorous in body and mind and a joy to all who knew her. But once in a while she got the blues—just like the rest of us, if we don't watch out.

On these occasions she would send for the family doctor and tell him all her bad feelings. Most of them were based on the conviction that her appetite was poor. She would say:

"All I take for breakfast is two boiled eggs, a little cereal, a piece of toast and a cup of coffee."

She really believed that she was going into a rapid decline. She did not feel the same need for food in the placid evening of life, sitting by the fireside doing a little sewing or reading. She took a short walk or drive during the day, and spent her time playing with and petting her grandchildren. Naturally she did not feel as she did when she was a young or middle-aged woman, bearing the heat and burden of the day.

Just as the diet for infants would not be the right diet for growing boys and girls, neither is the diet for adults the best diet for the aged. If you wish to be healthy and at your best at all ages, you must choose your food according to your age and your occupation, with due regard, also, to your own constitution and dietetic peculiarities.

Old age has its own definite food requirements. In the first place, less food is needed in the latter part of life than in either the period of growth or in that in which the hard work of life is done.

In the second place, simplicity in the diet and the elimination of rich and stimulating foods are more necessary during this period than at any other time.

any time after early childhood. All individuals are born with a process of deterioration and are no longer able to do the work they could once do.

Overeating is a positive danger in the regular blood-vessels tend to harden and become brittle after passing sixty or sixty-five. The heart is not so dependable as it once was. The liver and the kidneys cannot be expected to function as they did in middle-life or earlier.

It is just as unreasonable for a person of seventy to eat the same amount of food or the same rich and indigestible food that he ate at forty, as it would be for him to attempt to do the hard physical labor he easily performed at that age.

I recommend a simple diet taken at regular hours.

Modify your occupation. Take gentle exercise in the open air daily.

Cultivate a genuine interest in people and things.

Not only will these rules prolong life, but they will add greatly to comfort and good health in old age.

Answers to Health Questions

T. A. A. Q.—What will keep my hands in good condition while doing housework?

2.—Is it advisable for a fifteen year old girl to wear corsets?

3.—I am fifteen, five feet, four inches tall. What should I weigh?

A.—Try wearing rubber gloves to save your hands.

2.—Properly-fitted corsets will do no harm, but most girls are so athletic these days that corsets are unnecessary at fifteen.

3.—You should weigh about 117 pounds for your age and height.

A. W. E. Q.—What is the cause of lengthwise ridges on the finger-nails?

2.—What causes canker sores in the mouth after one begins wearing false teeth? They are only in the lower part of the mouth.

A.—This is not an abnormal sign. The ridges probably are injuries which the nail received from manicure instruments or from injuries in work.

2.—It may be that the false teeth do not fit properly and are an irritation of the gums. Consult a dentist.

O. L. Q.—Kindly advise me as to whether or not the eyebrows will tend to weaken the eyes.

2.—What is the proper weight for a girl five feet, one inch tall whose age is fourteen years? Also the proper weight for a girl fifteen years old, five feet three inches tall?

A.—This would have no effect on the eyes, but isn't it a foolish habit?

2.—A girl of fourteen years, five feet one inch tall should weigh about 109 pounds. A girl fifteen years old, five feet three inches tall should weigh about 115 pounds.

SATURDAY, APRIL 26.

A rather inauspicious planetary ruling makes this day doubtful. It will require great diligence and good judgment to hold affairs to successful unfoldment. Those in the employment of others are under an adverse sway and should bend their energies toward holding their employment and remaining in the good graces of employers or those in positions of authority over them. It is not a good time for seeking recognition or assistance of those in high places. Those whose birthday it is may have a year calling for all their tact and good management to keep their affairs well in hand. They should be very careful not to give offense on causes for complaint to those in places of authority. A child born on this day should be given every advantage to fit it to overcome obstacles in life.

Prana is from the Sanskrit. The primary definition, the breath of life, is sometimes personified in the Vedas. In theosophy the word means individual life principle, as contrasted with Atma, meaning the personal soul.

Bats are absent from the coldest parts of the world and are most numerous in the eastern tropics. They are characteristically tropical. Work of Order Traced at Meet of Odd Fellows love and truth. The principals of the order develop true manhood and good citizenship. The members put the tenets into daily practice.

The secret of power in the order is its systematic service and beneficence. Every true man desires to serve. It is Christlike. It develops true greatness. It ennobles. It enlarges and makes one happy. We travel the road that leads to Jericho daily with ears, and eyes open to aid. We live the Good Samaritan and practice the Golden Rule. A man is lonesome and sick in a strange city. He is an Odd Fellow. He is taken to the hospital. He is given every need and every attention. He is in the hands of brothers who care. He is cared for daily, his bills paid, his home lodge is communicated with. Thus the lodge becomes a bulwark of confidence and stability. It removes some of the uncertainty of the future. "He that provides not for his own denies the faith and is worse than an infidel."

The members visit the sick. All over America tonight sympathetic and self-sacrificing men and women sit by the sick, comfort the dying and relieve the distressed. The cry of the widow and the orphan do not go unheeded. The hungry are fed and the naked are clothed, and the sick are ministered unto. Beginning February 21st, 1921, I had nine cases of illness and accident in eight weeks including an operation, pneumonia, chicken pox, colitis and acute indigestion and an auto accident. The burden was crushing but the load was made lighter when there came a call regularly from my brethren: "How are the sick? Is there any help we can render? Call on us for any service needed in anyway whatsoever."

Not only do Odd Fellows visit the sick and relieve the distressed they bury the dead. Burial expenses are provided for a member who dies and for a member's wife. There is also a beautiful, impressive ceremony, arranged. No Odd Fellow or his kin need be embarrassed nor his grave neglected.

Last but not least, the crowning glory of our work is the care and education of orphans. Many thousands are cared for annually in the 60 homes in America and many individual lodges select regularly a boy or a girl and see them through. We are building character and training self-respecting and self-supporting citizens, men and women of whom we are justly proud. We perform a real service to humanity and to our government. We build good citizens out of material, much of which without aid and safe guidance would become totally dependent and a great expense to the state.

The care and education and training of our own Edna, now the companion of Rev. Ira L. Dance, pastor of the Baptist church at Crossville, Tenn., and of others who are now teachers or workers or home makers and producing citizenry spurs us on to greater endeavor and reaps us for all the labor and expense we have been to on their account. Our work is practical religion. It is a godly service. While the lodge is not a church, in the working of our principles we are not far from the Kingdom.

Invention to Aid Boll Weevil Fight

W. M. Brothers, who lives a few miles west of the Twin Cities on a farm, has an invention which he claims is destined to aid greatly in the prevention of ravages by the cotton boll weevil. Mr. Brothers claims that last year he made a bale and a half of cotton to an acre, that the year before brought only a few hundred pounds of cotton by using his new machine carefully. He plans this year to use a preparation that will prevent the appearance of boll weevils on cotton treated with it. The new machine is to be used to spread the new compound, stated Mr. Brothers, who promises more details later in the season.

Old Folks Made New

"It is now five months since I took a course of your medicine for gas and stomach trouble and I am feeling entirely well. My friends all tell me I am looking twenty years younger and I certainly feel as they say. I am recommending Mayr's Wonderful Remedy to all ailing with stomach and liver trouble." This is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. By druggists everywhere. —Adv.

Childhood Welfare to Arouse Country in May Day Effort

WASHINGTON—May Day is to be made the occasion for a coordinated effort by the various organizations interested in the welfare of American children. President Coolidge has sent his endorsement and assistance to the project in a letter to Secretary Hoover, who, as president of the American Child Health Association, presented the matter to him in a letter that makes some startling statements concerning child life in this country.

"With all the enlightenment and all the prosperity of our great people," says Mr. Hoover, "we find that in five other nations there is a lower death rate among infants; we find in 16 other nations a lower rate of fatality amongst mothers at childbirth. The treat national drift indicated that something like 80 per cent of the men examined were deficient in some particular or another."

While the greater part of America's 35,000,000 children are objects of the utmost solicitude on the part of parents, Mr. Hoover points out that no amount of individual solicitude can correct the dangers to which children are in many instances subjected by failure of community safeguards. "We find," he says, "in many of our communities impure sources of water and impure supplies of milk; in others we find inadequate provision for health inspection and playgrounds; we find archaic systems and incompetent administration of public health in many cities and towns, and we still have large numbers of children at work in factories when they should be in school.

It is to awaken community and national thought and secure concentrated effort on child welfare that May Day, traditionally and peculiarly children's day, is proposed for the purpose, and President Coolidge has given it his unqualified support. "The tremendous growth of urban population," the President says in his letter to Mr. Hoover, "constantly presents new problems of child life and health. These problems should be met by action within each community itself."

Governors of states, commissioners of health and education, mayors of cities, various organizations, the press, the motion picture industry, radio broadcasting and all other suitable agencies have been asked to join in stimulating the observance of May Day as a "Day of Child Welfare."

The Associated Press is the world's greatest news gathering agency. The Daily readers are the benefactors.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing, 1906 Jeffries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nutlike flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which is unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.
